In the most recent independent research into UK Top 200 law firm purchasing preferences by FreePint in October 2014*, respondents were asked to list those features of online services that were of value to them.

‘Ease of use’ was voted the most valued element, with ‘quality customer service’ and ‘advanced searching’ also important.

The research revealed the following results, putting Westlaw UK ahead of other services in those key areas:

Westlaw UK was also the fee earner's preferred primary law research service and the number one primary law research service that saves time and money.

SEARCH WITH EASE

Westlaw UK was designed to be as simple as possible to use so that anyone within a firm, in-house legal department or chambers, whether legally qualified or not, can dive into the system, find what they need and get out again with minimal effort.

From the simple search bar on the home page to the more advanced search features within each of the databases, you can choose to research in the way that's most natural to you. Intuitive functionality such as suggested search terms, plain English searching, highlighted search terms in results lists, a breadcrumb trail and legal term definition searching, ensure that you get to the information you need as quickly as possible.

SORT AND FILTER RESULTS

We know that when you run a search, you want the most relevant results displayed at the top. Westlaw UK does just that. With the option to display search results ranked by relevance, date or alphabetical order, and the ability to view results by content type, such as cases, legislation or journals, you can save time trawling through irrelevant content.

And to really narrow down a results list to pinpoint the information you need, you can filter your search results using options such as content type, date, practice area and jurisdiction.

1. Search within your results to further narrow down a list
2. Click on "Show Terms in Context" to see a preview of the content with your search terms highlighted
3. Filter your results to pinpoint the information you need
4. Re-sort your results to display in a different order
5. Icons in results list allow you see the status of cases and legislation

The screenshot shows the Westlaw UK search results interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'My Folders', 'Services', 'RSS Feeds', 'Alerts', 'Settings & Tools', 'Training Tutorial', 'Help', and 'Log Out'. Below this is a secondary navigation bar with categories: 'Insight', 'Cases', 'Legislation', 'Journals', 'Current Awareness', 'EU', 'Books', and 'News'. The main content area is titled 'Search Results' and includes a search bar with 'Edit Search' and 'New Search' options. A search filter 'Search Within Results' is also present. The search results are displayed as a list of items, each with a checkbox and a status icon. The search criteria are shown as 'You searched Westlaw UK for Free Text = Flexible AND tenancies'. The results list includes:

- 1. Flexible tenancies (Insight) - Last updated: 05 June 2013, Author(s): Arden Chambers
- 2. Flexible Tenancies (Review Procedures) Regulations 2012/695 - arrangement of SI
- 3. Flexible Tenancies (Review Procedures) Regulations 2012/695 - Explanatory Note para. 1 (version 1 of 1)

 On the left side, there are two filter sections: 'CONTENT TYPE' with checkboxes for Insight (1), Cases (222), Legislation (10), Journals (234), and EU (21); and 'TOPICS' with checkboxes for Commercial law (17), Contract law (97), Crime (22), Environment (42), Equity (28), Family and private life (42), Finance (12), Health and social security (14), Human rights (42), and Information and media (2). WHY MOVE MY LEGAL LIBRARY ONLINE?

For some, moving research online could be considered a daunting prospect, but the benefits speak for themselves.

No more searching through pages of multiple books to find your answer – one search is all it takes

No more risk associated with using out-of-date content – thanks to the currency of online and instant updates

No more time lost searching for cases or legislation in alternative sources – all primary law is linked within the system

No more manual filing of updates to looseleafs – all new content is automatically added

No more time wasted searching for elusive hard copies of case reports, journals and commentary titles – access for all, online

No more wasted office space – all you need is a computer or mobile device with internet access

THE HOME OFFICE

A clean, clear and easy-to-use interface. It's what our users love most about Westlaw UK because it ensures that they get to the information they need in just a few clicks. On top of that, we add intelligent tools that make legal research as painless as possible. That's the Westlaw UK advantage.

DIRECT LINKS FROM PRACTICAL LAW TO WESTLAW UK

We know that when looking at Practical Law's legal know-how it's also important to be able to see the full text of the case or legislation that's referenced. That's why we've created direct links from one service to the other. So there's no need to go searching elsewhere, just click on the reference in Practical Law to be taken directly to the relevant document on Westlaw UK where you can research without breaking your train of thought.

RESEARCH FASTER WITH ANALYSIS DOCUMENTS

Westlaw UK's Case and Legislation Analysis documents can save you huge amounts of time when searching for relevant primary law.

Case Analysis documents provide all information needed in the first instance, such as a case summary, where it's reported, appellate history and status, and direct links to all related content to save you time having to source it. Our Legal Editors highlight the key cases cited and citing the case, as well as key legislation cited to save you time going through the Table of Authorities.

Legislation Analysis documents, written specifically for online research, provide all information pertinent to a provision such as enabling Act, commencement, extent, SIs made under it and links to related content. The Arrangement of Act/SI document also allows easy navigation to any provision, part or schedule from one page, saving you going back and forth between web pages.

VISUAL TOOLS FOR INSTANT EVALUATION

Time is precious when you're researching, so being able to tell at a glance if a document is relevant for your search is invaluable. Westlaw UK makes that possible. Status icons for cases and legislation are displayed in search results lists and at the top of individual documents to alert you as to their current status. You'll be able to see instantly if a case is safe to rely on as good law or should be treated with caution, or whether that provision is still in force or has amendments pending.

Use the Graphical History display option to clearly see a case's journey through the courts and help bring clarity to those cases with complex appeal histories.

UNINTERRUPTED RESEARCH THANKS TO LINKED CONTENT

Nothing interrupts the flow of research more than having to stop and perform a new search for related content. With Westlaw UK, this isn't a problem. Wherever a statutory provision is mentioned, there will be a direct link to it. If a case is referenced in a book title, you can simply click on the link and be taken straight to it. And if you're reading a journal article and it mentions a legal textbook (that is also available on the system), that's right, you'll be able to jump straight into the relevant paragraph. We call it seamless research.

ADVANCED SEARCH OPTIONS FOR A MORE EFFICIENT SEARCH

Additional search options within each of the content sets in the system ensure that you can really focus your searches. From specifying the judge who presided over a case, to searching for how a piece of legislation looked at a specific date in time, Westlaw UK gives you the tools to find the information you need as efficiently as possible.

"It was good to come back to Westlaw UK – the clean clear interface is a pleasure to use. I have always found the layout of the Case Analysis documents particularly helpful and it was great to see the latest additions of tabular view and Graphical History"

Case Digest
Subject: Banking and finance Other related subjects: Legal profession; Real property; Equity
Keywords: Banks; Breach of trust; Compensation; Completion; Discharge; Equitable remedies; Mortgages; Solicitors' powers and duties
Summary: Although a judge had erred in finding that a firm of solicitors had only committed a breach of trust in relation to that part of a remortgage advance which was paid to the borrower instead of being used to discharge a first legal charge on the property, rather than the full amount of the advance, the calculation of the equitable compensation payable to the lender was correct.
Abstract: The appellant bank (B) appealed against a decision ([2012] EWHC 35 (Ch), [2012] P.N.L.R. 16) that the respondent firm of solicitors (M) had only acted in breach of trust to a limited extent in respect of a remortgage advance. M had acted for B and the borrowers (S) regarding an advance of £3.3 million. S's property was already subject to a £1.5 million mortgage in favour of another bank (K). B instructed M to pay the advance to discharge the existing mortgage and enable B's mortgage to be registered as a first legal charge. However, M paid approximately £1.2 million to K, which meant there was a £300,000 shortfall and B's mortgage was registered as a second charge. The rest of the advance was paid to S. S subsequently
